The Programme: In a Nutshell

On the occasion of the Prize Distribution and Cultural event for under-privileged students of Barrister Narendrajeet Singh Bal Sanskar Kendra and Maa Sushila Narendrajeet Singh Silai Kendra, Dr. Mohan Jain, the founder President of IDCA (USA) awarded several students of these Kendras for their talents in various academic and co-curricular activities. The students had secured first, second and third rank in several competitions like, Cricket-ball Throw, Musical Chair Race, Drawing, Uniform and Embroidery. The aforesaid two institutions are working for the children who are deprived of even their basic education and do not get opportunity to expose their talents already latent in them due to poverty. At Bal Sanskar Kendra, Children are being taught and trained so that they may be self-dependent and earn their livelihood. The girls of Silai Kendra whose parents live from hand to mouth and spend their maximum time for domestic tasks, are being trained in professional courses like stitching, embroidery, knitting etc, in order to make them skilled for making their both ends meet and thus they are helping in making our Prime Minister Hon. Narendra Modi's Skill India Programme come true.

Our chief guest Dr. Mohan Jain ji, born at Udaipur, Rajasthan in India, did his Ph.D. (Energy) from Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago and MSME, University of Kansas, Lowrance. Although Dr. Jain is well-settled in USA from for about forty five years, his heart beats for India. He personally helps and donates for the welfare of the weaker section and the persons who are deprived of their social rights.

In his address, he boosted up the potential and dedication of these children and filled them with new energy, new vigour and new enthusiasm to face the challenges of life and built in them an undying faith for future. He said that we can reach to distinction only by making a balanced use of resources available to us. We should make friendship with good people and ourselves be good to them. We should not be dependent on government for every and all type of work. The deeds like cleanliness, education and plantation should be accomplished with the help, co-operation and active participation of each and every people and then we will see that our country will not lag behind to any other country. He further said that he has been living in America for the last 45 year and it is the love for the country that has brought him here in India amongst us. Since helping others brings satisfaction and can make the world a better place to live in, those who are engaged in social service, should organise small groups and then execute their service to eradicate illiteracy and poverty from the country.

On this motivational and exemplary occasion Dr Awadh Dubey introduced the chief guest and other intellectuals at the stage. Mrs. Manju Shukla, the convener of the programme, briefed the programme and welcomed the chief guest. Dr. Divakar Mishra, a Commerce Lecturer, gave his vote of thanks on behalf of the organizing committee.
